

Contents Volume 2

4. The Order of Things in Eighteenth-Century Chronicles .....	451
Preconditions for the Forging of Personal Ties .....	452
The Image of the Protectors from the Perspective of the Protégés.....	457
Rituals of Power: The Bay'a and Kūrnish .....	461
Notions of Loyalty and Obedience .....	480
Ikhilās , Hawā-khwāhī and Other Terms for Loyalty.....	482
Itā'at , Inqiyād and Īlī : Obedience and Subordination.....	484
Farmān-bardārī and Khidmatgārī : Subjection and Service.....	488
Provision of Resources by Subordinated Actors .....	491
Jān-Sipārī : Sacrifice and Devotion .....	500
Acts of Favor, Grace and Compassion .....	505
Marḥamat , Shafaqat and 'Ināyat : Terms for Favor, Benevolence and Affection.....	505
Particular Acts of Favor: Patterns and Situations.....	509
Tarbiyat and Iṣṭinā' : Nurture, Promotion and Marks of Favor .....	514
Patterns of Gubernatorial Appointments .....	520
Qurbat : Intimacy and Affinity .....	527
Bunuwwat and Farzandī : Filiation and Sonship .....	529
Ri'āyat and Himāyat ( Hirāsāt , Hifāzat ): Attention, Solicitude and Protection.....	535
Provision of Resources by Social Superiors.....	541
Back to the Beginning: Notions of Fear and Anxiety .....	545
Conclusion.....	549
Generosity and Gift Giving .....	553
The Terminology of the Gift in the Chronicles .....	555
Gifts from Below and Instances of Gift Exchange.....	557
Of Jewels, Horses and Rare Fabrics: Objects of Gift Exchange .....	562
Namak-khwurī : Notions of Gratitude and Right Behavior.....	573
The Motif of Generosity in the Example of Jāwush Bāy .....	577
The Tūy and Other Festivities .....	581
Qutluq Bāy Donates a Garden.....	583
Conclusion.....	587
Mediation and Brokerage .....	591
Tashafu' and Tawassul : Intercession and Forging Connections .....	592

Village Elders: Fragments from the Sources.....	598
Religious Nobles as Intermediaries.....	601
The Manghit Chiefs as Power Brokers.....	612
Insights into a Kingāsh .....	618
What Makes an Ideal Intermediary?.....	622
Conclusion.....	625
The Portrayal of Order in Bukharan Chronicles.....	627
Justice-dispensing and Ordering Ruler.....	628
Hierarchies and Spatial Manifestations of Social Order.....	635
Mullā Sharīf Esteems Kinship and Genealogical Order.....	641
Causes of Disorder.....	644
Conclusion.....	648
The Superhuman Protector and the Role of Destiny.....	648
The Chronicles as Snapshots of Social Order.....	662
Conclusion.....	674
5. Social Order(s) in Nineteenth-Century Transoxania.....	681
The Manghit Period: Rulers and Milestones.....	684
Muḥammad Dānyāl Bī b. Khudāyār Bī.....	686
Shāh Murād Bī.....	689
Amīr Ḥaidar.....	694
The Succession Struggle 1826–1827.....	697
Amīr Naṣrullah Khān.....	700
The Last Three Manghit Amīrs.....	702
Social Order at the Bukharan Court.....	704
Shāh Murād’s Image in Nineteenth-Century Historiography.....	705
Rituals of Power at Amīr Ḥaidar’s Court.....	718
Naṣrullah Khān: The Lord of the Auspicious Conjunction.....	745
Summary.....	777
Russia’s Protectorate Reconsidered.....	780
The Russian Expansion: A Chronological Overview.....	781
Russian Protagonists and Local Power Brokers.....	784
The Effects of the Russian Presence.....	790
Summary.....	804
Foreign Images of Transoxania’s Social Order.....	805
Foreign Experiences of Bukharan Hospitality.....	808
Trapped in the Regional Gift Cycle.....	812
Diverging Worldviews, Divergent Tastes.....	814
The Bukharan Horse Trade.....	818

Summary .....	822
Social Order(s) in the Bukharan Countryside.....	824
Sharecropping, Land Tenure and Patronage in Bukhara .....	825
Institutionalized Indebtedness .....	838
Āqsaqāls According to Foreign and Secondary Sources.....	847
Āqsaqāls in Bukharan Sources .....	854
On the Selection and Performance of Āqsaqāls .....	863
Summary .....	875
Making Sense of the Petition System.....	877
Summary .....	903
Conclusion.....	907
Transoxania before and after 1868.....	908
The Formation of the Nascent Bukharan State.....	910
Concluding Remarks.....	917
Why Apply the Social Order Concept? .....	918
The Added Scientific Value of the Social Order Concept.....	928
The End of Chronicle Writing.....	937

